LONDONDERRY SCHOOL BOARD NAMES ASS'T SUPERINTENDENT SCOTT LALIBERTE TO SUCCEED NATE GREENBERG FOR 2017-18 SCHOOL YEAR

School Board Internal Promotion Avoids Costly Search and Promotes Seamless Transition Within District

LONDONDERRY – To ensure the continued success of the Londonderry School District, as well as a smooth transition of leadership, the Londonderry School Board unanimously voted to promote Assistant Superintendent Scott Laliberte to replace retiring Superintendent Nate Greenberg following the current school year. Board members cited Laliberte’s contributions to Londonderry in the last two years and his experience and leadership in curriculum development for all students as primary reasons to support his promotion.

“Scott has a clear focus on student success, and he is considered a leader in the field of public education, with expertise in STEM curriculum and college prep for students,” says Nancy Hendricks, Chair of the Londonderry School Board.

“Having worked with him, Scott and Nate share similar core beliefs, but Scott’s style is different enough as to sufficiently challenge our teachers and staff to continue to grow and succeed on behalf of our students.”

Board members recognized Laliberte’s two year tenure in Londonderry surpasses any formal “interview” needed for the position. Members also point out the promotion from within will save taxpayer funds, and it will ensure a smooth transition between superintendents. Laliberte will replace Nate Greenberg, who served as the district’s top educator since 2000.

“Scott brings a high degree of creativity and energy to this position and I know he will do an outstanding job for the students and families of Londonderry,” says Greenberg. “Working closely with him each day, I have seen an unparalleled work ethic, a deliberate but decisive approach to challenges, and a cool head during crisis. In addition, Scott has extensive experience in curriculum development which will serve our community and our students well into the future.”

Scott Laliberte also brings regional experience to the position. He currently serves on the New England Regional Council of the College Board as the New Hampshire representative, on the SNHU Academic Advisory Board, and the SERESC STEM Advisory Board. Laliberte told board members he recognizes the positive benefits of a smooth transition of administrative leadership, and promises to build on the successes of the school district.

“The Londonderry School District is a terrific example of a community that has truly invested in outstanding educational opportunities to its students, and I will work to build on that success by working to boost quality outcomes while being a good steward of the funds given to the district by the taxpayers of this community,” says Laliberte.

Laliberte will take over as Superintendent on July 1, 2017. A transition plan is already in place for the school district. A search will soon be conducted for a new assistant superintendent to fill the upcoming vacancy.

October 14, 2016

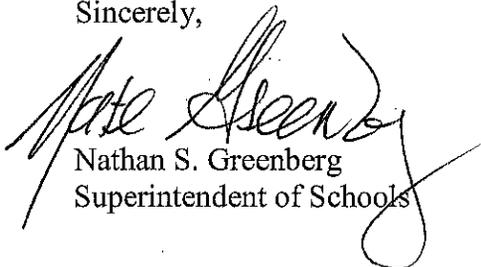

Dear Londonderry School Board Members,

It is with mixed emotions that I submit to you my formal retirement letter, effective June 30, 2017. It is due to your leadership and support, along with our truly exceptional administrators, teachers, staff, parents and students that our district has enjoyed such tremendous growth and success. The hard work, dedication, perseverance and ownership by all have created a truly outstanding school system creating a myriad of opportunities for all of our learners; preparing them for a truly successful future. For that, I will be eternally grateful to have served with you in Londonderry.

Upon my arrival in 2000, I realized that there was something special happening in Londonderry. The culture of this district was tight-knit and there was a unique drive and passion for learning and growth. It is that passion and deep love of education that is shown in classrooms every day that I will miss the most.

We have a lot to be proud of in Londonderry. Our graduation rate and college acceptance rate is among the highest in all of New Hampshire. Our dropout rate is microscopic, creating a community of school pride unmatched elsewhere. Parents know that their children will receive the education they need to be career and college ready, and I am so proud to have joined all of you on this journey. I will miss all of you. Thank you for 17 amazing years.

Sincerely,

Nathan S. Greenberg
Superintendent of Schools
